

Houston Labs

A technological research and development company building the tools, systems, and ideas where advanced technology meets human creativity.

What we do

We research emerging technology, prototype what it makes possible, and ship the products that bring it into the real world. Our work spans:

- Applied Research. Exploratory R&D at the edge of emerging technology, from first principles to working prototype.
- Creative Technology. Systems and tooling for storytellers, studios, and the people shaping the future of visual media.
- Product & Ventures. Turning research into products and ventures, with a deliberate path from lab to market.
- Advisory & Education. Helping organizations and individuals adopt technology-native ways of working, and stay competitive in a fast-moving age.

Who we serve

Individuals, VIPs, studios, brands, and small organizations who need to stay competitive in the new age, especially those without a team standing between them and the complexity of the frontier.

What we believe

Capability is abundant; adoption is scarce. We close that gap by building radically easy, deeply optimized, beautifully made products, because ease of use is how powerful technology actually reaches people, and how humanity is furthered by what it invents.

In practice

- Goblin. A wallet for Grincoin · goblin.st
- Bidwars. demo.bidwars.live
- More coming soon.
